

1 8 2 3

Chandelier 42482-G-14 "Basket"

The Traditional Family

Following the huge success of Marco Dessí's Basket Chandelier we decided to come up with a smaller version of this lamp for hallways or staircases. It premiered in September 2011 in Vienna's Museum of Applied Arts.

Inspired by the shape of traditional lanterns, Dessí was weaving a basket-like structure using hexagonally bent glass tubes in combination with silken cords. The lighting unit was selected to be a twisted spiral on a slim pole with halogen bulbs.

The silken ropes leave room to create bespoke variants to match the ambience of the perspective room.

Design: Marco Dessí, 2010; Modern

Dia.: 37 cm, H.: 65 cm; Weight: 11 kg

Material: Brass, glass, silk ropes; Finish: Gold

Lights: 14 x G4-Halogen; Max. Watt.: 280 W

Special requests: Metal parts in different finishes, various colours of silk ropes

LOBMEYR

1 8 2 3

Chandelier 42482-G-20 "Basket 2010"

The Traditional Family

The starting point for Dessí's design was the reproduction of an early baroque glass-arm-chandelier from Schloss Hof palace which is a classic Lobmeyr model today. Marco Dessí approached the project to not only reinvent the use of those glass-arms, but drew upon the vast variety of different types of chandeliers to carry over this technique to a totally new application.

Inspired by the shape of traditional lanterns, he was weaving a basket-like structure using hexagonally bent glass tubes in combination with silken cords. The lighting unit was selected to be a twisted spiral on a slim pole with halogen bulbs.

The silken ropes leave room to create bespoke variants to match the ambience of the perspective room.

Design: Marco Dessí, 2010; Modern

Dia.: 52 cm, H.: 90 cm; Weight: 15 kg

Material: Brass, glass, silk ropes; Finish: Gold

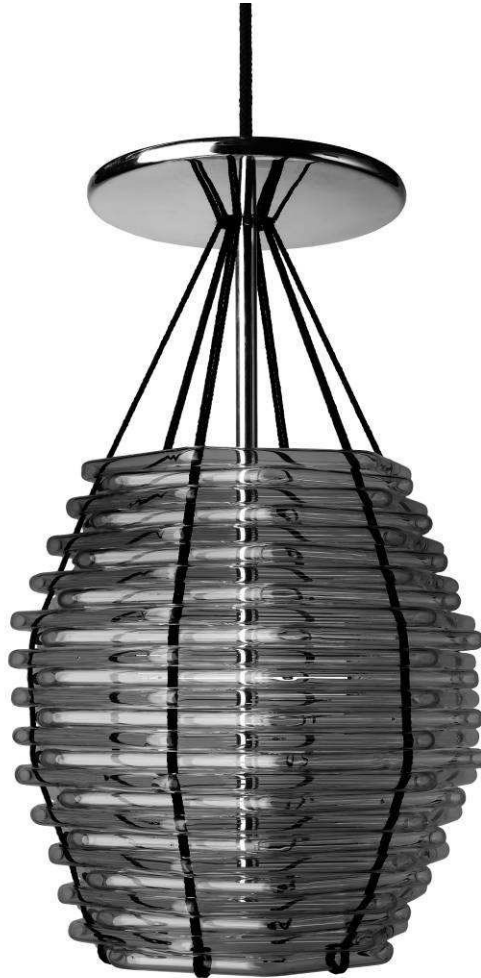

Lights: 20 x G4-Halogen; Max. Watt.: 400 W

Special requests: Metal parts in different finishes, various colours of silk ropes

LOBMEYR

1 8 2 3

Chandelier 42482-LT-20 "Basket 2010" Limited Edition

The Traditional Family

The starting point for Dessí's design was the reproduction of an early baroque glass-arm-chandelier from Schloss Hof palace which is a classic Lobmeyr model today. Marco Dessí approached the project to not only reinvent the use of those glass-arms, but drew upon the vast variety of different types of chandeliers to carry over this technique to a totally new application.

Inspired by the shape of traditional lanterns, he was weaving a basket-like structure using hexagonally bent glass tubes in combination with silken cords. The lighting unit was selected to be a twisted spiral on a slim pole with halogen bulbs.

A limited edition of 49 was issued with precious massive silver plating, smoke-grey glass tubes and black silken ropes. This was first presented at Superdesign 2010 in London.

Design: Marco Dessí, 2010; Modern

Dia.: 52 cm, H.: 90 cm; Weight: 15 kg

Material: Brass, glass, silk ropes; Finish: Silver

Lights: 20 x G4-Halogen; Max. Watt.: 400 W

Special requests: 49 limited pieces available. Individual numbers available on request.

LOBMEYR

1 8 2 3

Ceiling fixture 42547-DL-15 "Basket"

The Traditional Family

Following the huge success of Marco Dessí's Basket Chandelier we decided to come up with a smaller version of this lamp for hallways or staircases. It premiered in September 2011 in Vienna's Museum of Applied Arts.

Inspired by the shape of traditional lanterns, Dessí was weaving a basket-like structure using hexagonally bent glass tubes in combination with silken cords. The ceiling fixture is a versatile extension of the original Basket-series enabling application in low-ceiling rooms.

The silken ropes leave room to create bespoke variants to match the ambience of the perspective room.

Design: Marco Dessí, 2010; Modern

Dia.: 40 cm, H.: 27 cm; Weight: - kg

Material: Brass, glass, silk ropes; Finish: Gold

Lights: 15 x G4-Halogen; Max. Watt.: 300 W

Special requests: Metal parts in different finishes, various colours of silk ropes

LOBMEYR

1 8 2 3

Floor lamp 42529-BL-14 "Basket"

The Traditional Family

The starting point for Dessí's design was the reproduction of an early baroque glass-arm-chandelier from Schloss Hof palace that is a classic Lobmeyr model today. Marco Dessí approached the project to not only reinvent the use of those glass-arms, but drew upon the vast variety of different types of chandeliers to carry over this technique to a very new application.

Inspired by the shape of traditional lanterns, he was weaving a basket-like structure using hexagonally bent glass tubes in combination with silken cords. The lighting unit was selected to be a twisted spiral on a slim pole with halogen bulbs.

The silken ropes leave room to create bespoke variants to match the ambience of the perspective room. The height of the stem can be specified upon ordering for a bespoke lamp.

Design: Marco Dessí, 2010; Modern

Dia.: 36 cm, H.: to order; Weight: 15 kg

Material: Brass, glass, silk ropes; Finish: Gold

Lights: 14 x G4-Halogen; Max. Watt.: 280 W

Special requests: Metal parts in different finishes, various colours of silk ropes, bespoke heights

LOBMEYR